

Eleven young vibrant performers with a wealth of enthusiasm and musical skill, together formed the Sydney Omega Ensemble early in 2006. Now in 2010, the ensemble continues to perform chamber music of the highest calibre, under the artistic direction of clarinetist David Rowden. The Sydney Omega Ensemble has emerged as a notable presence within the Sydney classical music scene. Their performances have received enthusiastic acclaim from audiences and critics alike. Accepting an invitation from the Art Gallery of NSW, SOE continued its involvement in the Resonate Series performing another sell out show in June 2009. In February this year SOE were again invited to perform as part of the Historical Houses Trust concert program to a sold out audience at Government House. Over the years SOE has also collaborated with international guest artist Dimitri Ashkenazy both at City Recital Hall Angel Place and the Sydney Conservatorium of Music, delighting audiences with the thrilling quality of their performances.

The Delmar Gallery is pleased to present The Sydney Omega Ensemble as guest performers at our Annual Blake Concert and commence our 2010 concert series with performances of the highest standard.
